

West Park
HISTORICAL SOCIETY
Founded 2005

Have you ever imagined you could travel back through time to see your house and neighborhood as they looked 100 years ago? Maybe you've been curious about a particular building that seems to be from the horse-and-buggy days? Or perhaps you've driven past Alger Cemetery and wondered which of the gravestones was the oldest and who lay beneath it?

If you grew up in West Park you might be more interested in recalling the great restaurants, old diners, custard stands, movie theaters, neighborhood stores, schools and playgrounds that were such a big part of our lives. Want to see photos of these old places? We have lots of them!

If you enjoy uncovering the mysteries of the past or sharing fond memories of the way things used to be here in West Park, be assured, you are not alone.

The West Park Historical Society is made up of neighbors and future friends who feel just as you do and want to make your acquaintance. Our mission is to study, interpret and preserve the history of West Park for future generations — and have lots of fun doing it! Join us.
